JESS SUBLETT GIVEN LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Plea Of Insanity Probably Saves Accused From Electrocution.

Completion of the evidence and argument of counsel in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Jesse Sublett, charged with the murder of Lee R. Pherson, Marshal of the town of Rockport, some weeks ago, was had Tuesday afternoon at near 4 o'clock. Both the Commonwealth and defense attorneys consuming two hours each in argument of the case. W. O. Smith of Greenville made the legal fight for Sublett on a plea of insanity and urged the commitment of the prisoner to an insane asylum, while Glover Carey, Commonwealth's Attorney, urged that the death penalty be given. The jury was given the case and placed in charge of Deputy Sheriff George P. Jones, but did not arrive at a verdict until shortly before noon Wednesday, which was confinement in the Penitentiary during the remainder of his natural life. The verdict was arrived at by compromise of opinions, it being reported that four or more of the jurors were for inflicting the death penalty while some were for a 20 year sentence and a few favoring even a lighter sentence.

The prisoner is either insane or has been making a pretty good job of feigning insanity during the past few weeks as he had for days refused food and drink, being, to all appearance wholly oblivious to everything and everybody. Not for once during the trial proceedings taking any notice of what was going on, sitting with his head down and almost continuously twitching his legs and other parts of his body. The insanity plea and general appearance of the prisoner evidently saved him from going via the electric chair.

On the date of the murder, Sublett, who lived in Muhlenburg County, at Martwick, or at least near Rockport, came to the latter place, and asked the slain Marshal to arrest his stepdaughter, upon some sort of charge, but was informed that a warrant of arrest would be necessary and as the alleged charge was committed out of Rockport, and Ohio County, no warrant could be issued by the Police Judge. Later it is said that Sublett decided he would have another party arrested, a citizen of Rockport, and Marshal Pherson accompanied the condemned man to the office of the Judge to procure the necessary warrant, and upon reaching the office Sublett, for reasons never brought out in the trial, without warning, drew a gun and shot the Marshal in apparent cold blood, shooting in all, six times.

The fact that no motive for the killing was decidedly shown, in all probability helped the accused man. At least it is safe to say that inability to show a clear motive and the insanity displayed, whether feigned or real, had quite a bit to do with the findings, and as usual in such cases, verdict. Each side had experts examine the man and testify as to their testimony was almost entirely different; as to the mental condition of the accused.

It is said that Sublett exhibited signs of coming to after the verdict was read to him, and he returned to jail. He also continued to show a better frame of mind enroute to Beaver Dam. He attempted to cut an artery in one of his arms Tuesday night, using a piece of sharp tin. He first tore his shirt sleeve off, supposedly to prevent it from becoming saturated with blood and the consequent discovery by others.

No court proceeding in years brought out such a large concourse of witnesses and the curiously inclined as did this. During most of the time consumed in the trial the Court house was packed and jammed to the limit, at times standing room could not be found. Sheriff G. A. Ralph accompanied by E. A. Barnard left with Sublett and another prisoner, Will Calloway, for Eddyville, Wednesday afternoon. The latter was convicted of breaking into the Depot at Rockport at the November term of Court and owing to his alleged age was sent to the school of Reform but the officials would not or could not take him and as there was no other alternative he was sent to the penitentiary to serve the sentence.

(Later—Sheriff Ralph, on his return yesterday afternoon, reported that Sublett continued to improve mentally during the journey to Eddyville, a decided change being noticeable after passing the vicinity of Rockport and Central City, readily taking and devouring food. Before Ralph left for home he had been informed by the guards that Sublett had told them why and for how long he had been sent up, and that he had otherwise conversed with them. So it appears that the insanity was only a game of chance with the murderer.)

METHODIST PAY-UP WEEK ON CENTENARY

The sermon and addresses will all bear upon this one important subject, and the week following a united effort will be put forth to collect up all subscriptions to the Centenary fund not paid to date.

CIRCUIT COURT FINALLY CLOSED

Shields Murder Case Set Over To May Term; Due to Illness of Presiding Judge.

Aside from the disposal of the Sublett murder case, not much business had been transacted by the Circuit Court since our last report, up to yesterday. Judge Wilson has been indisposed during the greater portion of the present term of court, and was forced to adjourn last weekend. He resumed Court Monday but his condition was not much, if any, improved. For that reason the case of the Commonwealth against Marvin Shields, charged with killing Watt Ranney, was continued to the May term of court. The court adjourned yesterday at noon.

In the action of the Commonwealth vs. Dr. I. L. Denton, detaining a woman etc., on trial at press hour last week, verdict for $150.00 was rendered by the jury.

A number of default judgments have been entered and cases of minor importance disposed of.

Judge Wilson has appointed Mrs. A. K. Anderson Official Court Stenographer and Miss Amelia Pirtle Examiner, each of whom have been qualified. Cecil H. Heavrin who recently graduated from the Law School, University of Kentucky, has been admitted to the bar.

Considerable difficulty was met in procuring the jury to try Sublett, which was composed of the following citizens: A. B. Grant, F. M. Baize, J. W. Cheek, George Baltzell, T. H. Chinn, Luther Chapman, Wm. Flenor, J. I. Milburn, J. S. Cecil, Lon Smith, H. H. Westerfield, and Hiram Miller.

ERSEL LEON BENNETT YIELDS TO PNEUMONIA

Ersel Leon Bennett, 17 years, 7 months and 17 days of age, yielded to pneumonia, following measles Sunday morning, March 12 at his temporary home in Hartford, where he, with his mother, brother and sister, were residing during the school year.

Young Bennett was a member of the Junior class, Hartford High School, president of the class, Vice President of the Henry Clay Literary Society, advertising manager of the School paper and a regular guard on the Basket Ball Team. He was a young man of exemplary habits, ranking as one of the best students of the school and much admired by both classmates and teacher as well as by all who knew him personally.

Funeral services were held at the Hartford M. E. Church at 11 o'clock, A. M. Monday, by the Revs. T. T. Frazier and R. D. Bennett, after which the remains were deposited in Oakwood Cemetery. The tomb was profusely covered by loads of floral tributes, offerings from his classmates, teachers and friends. The pall bearers were members of the Junior and Senior classes: Messrs. Virgil Crowe, Herbert Porter, Junior Shults, Otis Ashby, George DeBruler and Arnold Likens.

The father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Estill Bennett, one brother, Wilbur and one sister, little Miss Lottie Bella survive the deceased young man, their home being near Beda.

TWENTY-THREE DEAD IN WAKE OF STORM

Tornado Leaves Path of Wreckage And Death Through Four States In South.

New Orleans, March 14.—At least twenty-three persons were killed and many others were seriously injured as a result of series of storms, at places reaching proportions of tornadoes, which visited isolated sections of Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Oklahoma last night and early today.

The heaviest loss of life reported was at Gowen, Okla., where twelve persons were killed when a tornado swept thru the foreign section of the village last night. Many others were slightly injured.

Six negroes were killed when the storm passed thru the northeastern section of Jefferson County and the southeastern section of Lenoire County, Ark., early today.

At Sulphur, Okla., two white men were killed late yesterday. Nineteen others were seriously injured and scores suffered slight injuries. Property damage is estimated at $100,000. Fifty buildings were destroyed and 200 people left homeless.

Eight homes were wrecked at Sunrise, a village two miles north of Baton Rouge, a negro woman and her child killed.

Twelve persons were injured, a number seriously when the storm struck Corinth, Miss., today. More than 150 homes were leveled. The storm swept a path more than 100 feet wide razing every building in its path. Reports from outlying districts tell of considerable property damage.

An aged negro man was killed and several negroes were slightly injured and a score of houses destroyed at Arkansas City, Ark., early today.

Only meager details are available from the sections visited by the storm of account of the damage, to wire communication and it is feared the death toll will be greatly increased when complete returns are available. Little effort has been made to estimate the property damage, which includes damage to crops and destruction of livestock.

METHODIST SERVICES

According to an agreement between the pastors of the Baptist and Methodist churches and J. H. Williams, of the Christian church, and on the suggestion of Rev. Therefore there will be service at the Methodist church next Sunday at 11 a. m., but there will be no evening service.

TEACHERS' SCHOOL OR INSTITUTES—WHICH?

Teacher's Institutes were established to aid in teacher training. They last five days. They are compulsory. Each teacher pays a fee of from one to two dollars. They are usually held after the opening of the rural schools. The teachers are paid their salaries while attending institute, and the pupils lose this time. Thus instead of a six months term pupils actually are taught but five months and two weeks.

Cost of Institutes
One-twenty-fourth of a teacher's annual salary is paid for attending institute. That means that the State pays each teacher that attends the institute an average of $19.

Thus the Institutes cost the State annually 11,000 rural and graded teachers at $10, making $110,000.

The Institutes cost each child five days of school; or 340,000 children five days each, making 1,700,000 days.

Institutes cost the State annually $209,000; teachers $110,000; children 1,700,000 school days.

Summer Schools
A summer school lasts six weeks; it does not conflict with the school term. It will cost the State approximately $50,000 annually to maintain summer schools in the various counties.

It will bring teacher training opportunities within the reach of the teachers both in distance and cost.

Exactly the same credits will be given for work done in the summer schools as in the State Normals.

The proposition is simply this: Teachers' Institutes lasting five days, costing the State $209,000, costing teachers $110,000 and costing children 1,700,000 school days, or summer schools, lasting six weeks, costing teachers nothing, costing the State $50,000 and costing the children no loss of time.

RELIGIOUS TOLERATION RESULT OF WORLD WAR

Washington, March 16—When the cornerstone of the first Mohammedan institute and mosque to be erected in France was laid March 1 in Paris with impressive ceremonies, both Christian and Mussulman officials took part.

Prominent divines in the Nation's Capital have expressed much interest in this somewhat unusual happening. "It is a new evidence," said the Rev. Albert R. Hammond, "of the spread of religious toleration in place of the ancient intolerance which dictated that man must worship his God according to the dictates of the state rather than of his conscience."

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

The sixth months' pay for teachers has been allowed and checks have been written and will be sent out as soon as the teachers send in their record books properly filled out.

MRS. I. S. MAJON S. E. O. C.

MINERS' STRIKE IS SURE, BELIEF

Union Head And Secretary Daves Confer Without Result.

Washington, March 14.—Secretary of Labor Davis and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers exchanged views today on the threatening situation in the bituminous coal industry, and both were said after their conference to be of the opinion that a national strike in the union fields was inevitable. Mr. Lewis assured Mr. Davis again of the willingness of the miners' union to open negotiations for a new national wage contract, a proposition which mine operators are refusing to entertain.

Later Mr. Lewis declared the cessation of work in the union mines after April 1, was "coming about automatically," and asserted that "a bold commercial policy of the operators for which the public must pay" was in part responsible.

He Attacks Operators.

"If there is no conference between the miners' union and the operators," he added, referring to the bituminous situation, "there can be no wage contract drawn up. If there is no wage contract, there won't be any coal dug after April 1st in Union mines."

Mr. Lewis accused mine operators' associations which have sought local conferences with the union looking to the construction of district contracts of "playing for position" and "shooting propaganda." Operators in certain districts he insisted, "would like to get an exclusive right to the coal market after April 1, when all other mines are shut up," but could not make wage contracts until the basis for a national scale had been laid by a wage contract in the central competitive field, "which will determine the wages, costs their competitors have to meet, and fix the relationships in the coal market."

Frightening Consumers

"Meanwhile," he declared, "coal companies can make a lot of money," by refusing to enter conferences, "getting out strike scares and frightening consumers into paying high prices for coal."

He also insisted that district organizations of the miners' union, except in Illinois, were supporting their national officials in demanding the national settlement.

Mr. Lewis came here today from Illinois, and after his conference with Secretary Davis, left with several representatives of the National Union for New York, where the general scale committees of the union and the anthracite operators are in session to consider terms of a new wage contract.

Suspension Is Likely.

New York, March 14.—Anthracite miners and operators will meet in joint conference tomorrow, with little prospect of reaching an agreement on a wage scale before the expiration of the present contract on March 31, which will mean a suspension of mining in the Pennsylvania hard coal fields until a satisfactory arrangement has been arrived at.

This was the opinion of operators and miners here tonight. A suspension would not mean a break in negotiations. Twice before in the history of wage conferences in this industry operators and miners continued the discussion of wage contracts to a satisfactory conclusion while the collieries remained idle.

It is understood from the company side that the operators are all opposed to considering a wage increase at this time. Some operators were reported favorable to renewing the contract about to expire, while others were said to be firm for a reduction.

All efforts on the part of operators to decrease wages will be bitterly fought, union leaders said tonight, "there must be no backward step," the slogan uttered by President John L. Lewis at the convention of the anthracite miners in January, is being re-echoed here by the members of the scale committee.

TAX NOTICE

The 1922 taxes are now due the City of Hartford and must be paid before the first day of April in order to avoid the penalty that attaches on that date.

3612 D. S. BENNETT, Collector.

years, beginning with 1923, one-fifth of the preferred stock, or one class thereof, and sufficient amounts for interest, taxes, insurance, depreciation, betterment and commercial and secondary charges, all as the directors of the association may instruct, and limit the corporation and not otherwise; and the corporation will issue to the association common capital stock equivalent to all payments advanced for dividends, interest, redemption of stocks.

The corporation will agree to do no buying or selling of tobacco whatsoever.

Public Warehouses.

(i) Any warehouses shall be conducted as a public warehouse, with such charges as may be imposed thru an official body or with such charges as are generally prevalent in the district; and any profits made from such operation as a public warehouse shall be utilized for payment of overhead expenses of the corporation.

(j) The association will raise the funds to retire each class of preferred stock and pay dividends on stock by deductions from the marketing proceeds of the members generally or within the respective districts in which or for whose use or benefit the warehouses, etc., are acquired or built and operated, as the directors may determine conclusively.

Growers Get Credit For All Deductions To Retire Stock.

(k) As the preferred stock is retired the association will calculate the value of the contribution from each grower's tobacco toward such retirement and toward payment of dividends; and the corporation will credit and issue from time to time to each such member common stock in an equivalent amount, at the book value thereof, as conclusively established by the directors of the association, as soon as the aggregate deductions equal the book value of one or more shares.

DARK TOBACCO GROWERS' CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION MARKETING AGREEMENT.

Member's Agreement With the Association.

The Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, a nonprofit Association, hereinafter called the Association, first party, and the undersigned Grower, second party, agree:

This is for Co-operative Marketing.

1. The grower is a member of the Association and is helping to carry out the express aims of the Association for co-operative marketing, for minimizing speculation and waste and stabilizing tobacco markets in the interest of the grower and the public through this and similar obligations undertaken by other growers.

Grower Sells Tobacco to Association for Five Years.

2. The Association agrees to buy and the grower agrees to sell and deliver to the Association all of the tobacco produced by or for him or acquired by him as landlord or lessor during the years 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925 and 1926.

If You Have a Crop Mortgage.

3. The grower expressly warrants that he has not heretofore contracted to sell, market or deliver any of his said tobacco to any person, firm or corporation, except as noted at the end of this agreement. Any tobacco covered by such existing contracts or crop mortgage shall be excluded from the terms hereof for the period and to the extent noted. If the lienholder exercises his legal right of possession or sale.

Where to Deliver.

4. (a) All tobacco shall be delivered at the earliest reasonable time after cutting or curing, drying, or firing, when customary, to the order of the Association, at the warehouse or plant controlled or specified by the Association; or at the nearest warehouse, if the Association controls or specifies no warehouse or plant in that immediate district; or by shipment, as directed, to the Association; and by delivery to the Association or the indorsed warehouse or other receipts or bills of lading, properly directed.

Poor Tobacco Is Penalized.

(b) Any deduction or allowance or loss that the Association may make or suffer on account of inferior grade, quality or condition at delivery shall be charged against the grower individually.

Standardize Methods.

(c) The Association shall make rules and regulations and provide inspectors or graders to standardize and grade the quality and method and manner of handling, curing and shipping such tobacco; and the grower agrees to observe any such rules and regulations and to adopt the grading established by the State and Federal authorities and the Association.

Pool by Type and Grade.

5. The Association shall pool or mingle the tobacco of the grower with tobacco of a like type, grade and quality delivered in the same crop year by other growers. The Association shall classify the tobacco and its classification shall be conclusive.

The tobacco delivered in any crop year to any point in the order of the Association shall be handled in one major pool; and the minor pools shall first be by type, then by grade and quality within each type.

Association Will Resell.

6. The Association agrees to resell such tobacco, together with tobacco of like type, grade and quality, delivered by other growers under similar contracts, at the best prices obtainable by it under market conditions; and to pay over the net amount received therefrom (less, freight, insurance and interest), as payment in full to the grower and growers named in contracts similar hereto, according to the tobacco delivered by each of them, after deducting therefrom, within the discretion of the Association, the costs of maintaining the Association and of handling, grading and marketing such tobacco; and of creating funds for credits and other general commercial purposes (said funds not to exceed 1 per cent of the gross resale price). The annual surplus from such deductions must be prorated among the growers delivering tobacco in that year on the basis of deliveries.

Same Amount for the Same Type.

The grower agrees that the Association may handle, in its discretion, some of the tobacco in one way and some in another; may sell some upon delivery; may cure or process or manufacture all or any portion thereof, but the net proceeds of all tobacco or tobacco products of like type, quality and grade, less charges, costs and advances, shall be divided ratably among the growers in proportion to their deliveries to each pool, payments to be made from time to time until all the accounts of each pool are settled.

The Association may contract with the owners of redrying plants to redry and store tobacco delivered by the members of the Association.

Tobacco Sold Where Most Profitable.

8. The Association may sell the said tobacco, within or without the United States, directly to manufacturers or exporters or otherwise, at such time and in such form and upon such conditions and terms as it may deem profitable, fair and advantageous to the growers; and it may sell all or any part of the tobacco with or through any other agency established for the co-operative marketing of the tobacco of other growers, under such conditions as will serve the joint interest of the growers and the public; and any proportionate expenses connected therewith shall be deemed marketing costs under paragraph six.

The Association Can Raise Money To Make First Payment to Growers.

9. The grower agrees that the Association shall have absolute title to the tobacco upon delivery thereof; and that the Association shall borrow money in its name on the tobacco, thru drafts, acceptances, notes or otherwise, or on any warehouse receipts or bills of lading or upon any accounts for the sale of tobacco or on any commercial paper delivered therefore. The Association shall prorate the money so received among the growers equitably, as it may determine, for each district and period of delivery.

The Association agrees to accept drafts drawn against it by the grower for any amount specified and determined by it, upon delivery of tobacco hereunder; and to assist the grower to discount such drafts, secured by the warehouse receipt, thru the most advantageous banking system.

Offices or Plants.

10. The Association may establish selling offices, warehouses, plants, marketing, statistical or other agencies in any place.

You Can Stop Growing Tobacco.

11. The grower shall have the right to stop growing tobacco and to grow anything else at any time at his free discretion; but if he produces any tobacco, or acquires or owns any interest in any tobacco, as landlord or lessor, during the term hereof, it shall all be included under the terms of this agreement and must be sold only to the Association.

You Do Not Have to Deliver Any Particular Amount.

12. Nothing in this agreement shall be interpreted as compelling the grower to deliver any specified quantity of tobacco each year; but he shall deliver all the tobacco produced by or for him.

You Deliver All the Tobacco You Raise or Control.

13. (n) This agreement shall be (Continued on Third Page.)

TOBACCO GROWERS MARKETING PLANS

binding upon the grower as long as he produces tobacco directly or indirectly, or has the legal right to exercise control of any commercial tobacco or any interest therein as a producer or landlord during the term of this contract.

(b) If this agreement is signed by the members of a co-partnership, it shall apply to them and each of them individually in the event of the said co-partnership; and to their dissolution or termination of the partnership interests therein under any circumstances.

(c) The grower agrees that no member of his family or his tenants have any control or interest in his share of the crop as indicated below or otherwise.

You May Make a Crop Mortgage.

(d) If the grower places any lien or crop mortgage upon any of his crops during the term hereof, the Association shall have the right to take delivery of his tobacco and to pay off all or part of the lien or crop mortgage for the account of the grower and to charge the same against him individually.

13. (d) The grower may place a mortgage upon his tobacco; and shall notify the Association prior to making any such mortgage. The Association will assist and advise the grower in any such transaction as far as it deems proper.

14. From time to time the grower agrees to mail to the Association any statistical data requested, on the forms provided for that purpose by the Association.

All Contracts Are Alike.

15. This agreement is one of a series generally similar in terms comprising with all such agreements, signed by individual growers, or otherwise, one single contract between the Association and the said growers annually and individually obligated under all of the terms thereof. The Association shall be deemed to be acting in its own name for all such growers in any action or legal proceedings on or arising out of this contract.

Curing or Re-Drying Plants.

16. (a) The grower hereby expressly authorizes the Association to deliver to any warehousing or other corporation organized for co-operation with this Association any or all of his tobacco for handling, processing, or manufacturing, or storing; and to charge against his tobacco and his prorated share of the funds necessary to create a reserve, equivalent to one class of its preferred stock annually to retire the said class; and to pay the dividends on all outstanding stock thereof.

(b) The grower shall be charged for such deductions only on account of warehouses or plants within his district or within his benefit, as determined conclusively by the Association, and for such deductions the grower shall receive a proportionate interest in such corporation.

Old Crop Tobacco

17. If the grower has on hand, upon the date of mailing notice of the actual incorporation of the Association, any tobacco of the 1921 or any other crops, free of liens and capable of delivery, he shall deliver such tobacco to the Association, as it may direct, to be graded by the Association and marketed by it, in pools wholly separate from other deliveries hereunder, but generally in the manner here set forth.

Do Not Break the Contract

18. (a) Inasmuch as the remedy of law would be inadequate; and inasmuch as it is now and ever will be impracticable and extremely difficult to determine the actual damage resulting to Association should the grower fail to sell and deliver all of his tobacco, the grower hereby agrees to pay to the Association for all tobacco delivered, consigned or marketed or withheld by or for him, other than in accordance with the terms hereof, the sum of five cents per pound on liquidated damages, averaged for all types and grades of tobacco, for the breach of this contract; all parties agreeing that this contract is one of a series dependent for its true value upon the adherence of each and all of the growers to each and all of the said contracts.

You Will Try to Get His Tobacco Anyway.

(b) The grower agrees that in the event of a breach or threatened breach by him of any provision regarding delivery of tobacco, the Association shall be entitled to an injunction to prevent breach or further breach thereof and to a decree for specific performance hereof; and the parties agree that this is a contract for the purchase and sale of personal property under special circumstances and conditions; and that the buyer cannot go into the open markets and buy tobacco to replace any which the grower may fail to deliver.

Violators Pay the Cost.

(c) If the Association brings any action whatsoever by reason of a breach or threatened breach hereof, the grower agrees to pay to the Association all costs of court costs for bond and otherwise, expenses of travel and all expenses arising out of or caused by the litigation and any reasonable attorney's fee expended or incurred by it in such proceedings; and all such costs and expenses shall be included in the judgment and shall be entitled to the benefit of any lien securing any judgment hereunder.

19. The parties agree that there are no oral or other conditions, promises, covenants, representations, or inducements in addition to or at variance with any of the terms hereof; and that this agreement represents the voluntary and clear understanding of both parties fully and completely.

National Central Agency.

20. The Association is expressly authorized to exercise any or all of the grading, inspecting, marketing or other powers or rights granted hereunder through any central agency to be organized for coordinating the activities of this and similar co-operative marketing associations in this or other States.

Any costs of maintaining such central agency shall be pro-rated among the said Associations on the basis of the gross sale proceeds from the products delivered to them respectively or otherwise; and shall be considered part of the costs and deductions provided for in Paragraph six.

Read, considered, and signed by the grower, as of the date determined by the Association Contract and as in the State of Kentucky and subject to interpretation and enforcement according to the laws of Kentucky.

(End of Marketing Agreement.)

Minor Changes May Be Made.

21. These provisions are subject to minor modification or amendment by the Organization Committee on the suggestion of State officials or otherwise, so as to carry out the general purposes hereof.

All Contracts are the Same

22. It is expressly agreed that this instrument is one of a series substantially identical in terms. All such instruments shall be deemed one contract for the purpose of binding the subscribers to the same extent as if all of the subscribers had signed one such contract.

TEXAS HAVING HER TROUBLE WITH SHINE

Orange County Clean-Up Begins With Investigation of Death Of Ben Clemens.

ORANGE, Texas, March 4.—Sheriff J.W. Helton and six deputies today started on a clean-up of the oil field. How well they succeeded was indicated tonight when the jail here received a message "to prepare standing room in the jail for the hoard of prisoners en route." The drive on lawlessness started only after Ben Clemens, an oil field worker, had paid with his life as a result of it.

Clemens was knocked on the head Thursday night at the Petroleum club, when he started a clean-up all his own. He had been gambling it all said, at this place and as a result found himself minus his earnings amounting to $75. It is presumed he reached the conclusion that the game was not on the level and shortly afterwards returned with a pistol with the announced intention of starting on a clean-up if his money was not returned.

But Clemens was a person, who trusted others and listened to the pleadings of those whom he believed to be his friends, and laid his pistol aside for a more peaceful remonstrance. Within a few hours his body was in the hands of the undertaker as a result of a blow with some blunt weapon.

Probe begins following crime.

Sheriff Helton went to the scene immediately and began an investigation. A few hours later he reported eight arrests and from time to time added others to his list until tonight when it came time to bring his charges to the city he found it necessary to advise the jailer to prepare standing room for his party. Many of these are held only as material witnesses or as suspects and it is believed these will be reduced as the investigation proceeds.

The sheriff found at first he was handicapped because the Petroleum club is organized under the laws of the state of Texas, but once on the inside he is said to have found plenty of evidence that it was not conducted according to the law.

He and his deputies began gathering up the gambling paraphernalia—the green covered furniture—and shortly after sunset tonight he held a little bond fire nearby in which cards and dice played an important part as fuel. Members of the organization went about their work or stood by silent as the green goods went up in smoke.

Clemens' Body Is Sent To Freeport.

The body of Clemens, whose death precipitated the drive on lawlessness, today started on its last journey. It was sent to Freeport, Texas, where a widow and three children awaits its coming.

In his investigation at the field, Sheriff Helton found evidence of liquor law violations. Bottles of shiny and the higher grades of intoxicants went into the bond fire from time to time. The investigation into the presence of women of the underworld will be made next week.

This is the first word of lawlessness in the oil field heard here since the report from Austin more than a month ago that rangers would not be available for a clean-up there until the more pressing job at Mexia is completed. It was denied at Orange that martial law had been requested or that lawlessness was rampant in the field. Sheriff Helton is determined to find out if the club he closed today is the only institution of its sort in the field.—Orange, Texas, Enterprise. (Published on request.)

Those Switch Engines!

The following story is credited to the late John Kendrick Bangs:

A train made up of day coaches and Pullman sleepers broke through a wooden trestle and landed in a frightful mass of twisted wreckage on the bottom of a ravine some eighty feet below. The wrecking crew worked nobly, and after several hours of heroic effort came to a crushed and splintered sleeper at the base of the ruin. There amid the debris, sleeping peacefully, with a beam across his chest, lay the porter, wholly unharmed and dreaming. He was even snoring. The foreman of the wrecking crew, with suitable language expressing his amazement at the miracle, finally succeeded in getting Sambo half awake.

"Wh-whut's de matter?" stammered Sambo, sitting up and gazing dazedly at the ruin on every side.

"Matter?" echoed the foreman.

"Why, jumpin' jehoshaphat, man! Don't you know that this whole dodgged train has fallen through the trestle? It's a wonder you weren't killed. Didn't you feel anything?"

"Why, yas, boss," said Sambo. "I did feel sumpin' kind o' jolt; but I t'ought dey was a puttin' on de dinah at Jackson."

HALF OF CHICKS AND EGGS LOST IN UPKEEP OF FLOCKS

Lexington, Ky., March 13.—One-half of all the eggs incubated in Kentucky each year fail to hatch and nearly one-half of all the chicks that are hatched die before they reach market size or maturity, poultry specialists at the College of Agriculture have estimated in pointing out the need for greater care in the business of raising chicks on farms of the State. As a result of present conditions, Kentucky farmers annually lose more than 24 million chicks in their efforts to rear sufficient chickens to maintain the ten million hens on farms of the State, they say.

The main causes responsible for this loss during incubation and the first few weeks of brooding are due to the management of the poultry flock as breeders, the care of eggs previous to and during incubation and the operation of the incubator.
The cost of Kentucky chicks could be reduced more than $300,000 each year by increasing the hatch from 50 to 75 chicks from each 100 eggs set,
the specialists say.

SAPIRO MARKETING PLAN IS APPROVED

Big Meeting at Owensboro Hears Co-operative Exponent.

The campaign to handle the Green river type of tobacco thru a co-operative marketing association was formally launched at a monster meeting held at the Plaza theatre in Owensboro on Wednesday afternoon. It is estimated that more than 1,500 planters and business men heard the cooperative marketing plan presented by Aaron Sapiro, California marketing expert, who successfully conducted the campaign to organize the Burley district of Kentucky.

At the close of Mr. Sapiro's address unanimous approval was given by a rising vote to the co-operative marketing plan.

Immediate steps will be taken to organize every county in the Green river district. The campaign to secure at least two-thirds of the growers to agree to the co-operative marketing plan will be launched at once.
The campaign will continue until October.

Mr. Sapiro arrived in Owensboro from Henderson and was met at the station by a committee of citizens and escorted to the hotel where he held a reception. About 100 representative citizens occupied seats on the stage at the theatre. Growers were in attendance at the meeting from all of the counties of the Green river district and Southern Indiana.

Tribute to Judge Bingham.

Following a short presentation speech by W. C. Haycraft, who paid a glowing tribute to Judge R. W.
Bingham, of Louisville, for his disinterested efforts to assist the farmers of Kentucky by establishment of the co-operative marketing system throughout the entire state. Mr. Sa-piro then took the stage, and without reference to any other subject launched into his message for the tobacco growers.

The speaker assured his audience that the co-operative association would go over and go over big. He said that 80 per cent of the Burley growers had become members of the Burley association, and he was certain that 90 per cent of the dark tobacco growers would gladly join hands with one another to start a movement that would mean prosperity, happiness and a higher standard of living. He referred to the fact that California, his native state, ranked first in the grade of rural schools, while Kentucky stood forty-fifth in line, but three states in the Union having worse rural schools than Kentucky.

Fruit Growers Independent.

He attributed the high standard of living and the many phases of prosperity of California to the cooperative marketing idea. He said it had taken twenty-eight years to arrive at absolute independence on the part of the fruit growers of California.

The co-operative marketing idea,
Mr. Sapiro told his audience, was not an experiment, neither was it a novel idea. The greatest corporation in Great Britain, he said, was the great co-operative marketing association which was handling every class of merchandise in the United Kingdom. He brought down for many years the history of the cooperative marketing project and told of the organizing in associations of the cotton growers of the South and of many other commodities in various other sections of the country. The Dominion government in Canada has adopted the California plan, with modifications to suit the exigencies of the situation, and will put it into operation throughout the entire country to the North.

"There is no escaping the law of supply and demand, but we propose to substitute the demand at the point of consumption for the demand at the point of production," the speaker said.

(The foregoing is a part of Mr.
Sapiro's speech, taken from the Owensboro Messenger.)

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG (By I. D. Claire.)

It is the unusual that interests most. Just now I would rather see a winter sunset than all the novelties of a great city. For five months
I have not been out of this village by the Falls of the Ohio, and have seen a sunset only behind three-story buildings.

Everything in human life is linked by an endless chain to every other thing. I overcame my scruples Sunday night against the movies by going to the Widout to see "The Rosary." Some years ago I heard the Rosary song and its sentiments sank so indelibly in my heart that I felt a thrill of anxiety when the film was announced to witness it. And it was not a disappointment. I hope Barrass puts it on for "The Homefolks" soon.

The fight between the police and enforcement officers in Louisville goes merrily on, with the army of moonshiners and bootleggers gaining ground. The officers are making an honest and fearless effort to suppress the illegal traffic and are losing, not because of the force of the lawbreakers, but for want of support of a healthy and sincere public sentiment. It is the people who rule.

Human greatness is like the landscape, most alluring when viewed from a distance. Only the courtiers know the disappointments of kings.
The magnificent Mausoleum as but tenements of crumbling clay.

The Legislature killed the anti-monkey bill, but the monkeys who have not evolved put up a fine fight for it.

Buddy McFeag told me the other day that he had quit bootlegging, and when I asked him why he said he had just noticed in the papers that seventy-six millionaires committed suicide during the year 1921, and that he had decided not to flirt with death.

I still cling to the notion that the Garden of Eden was located somewhere in Ohio county, and probably on the exact site of the town of Hartford, but experience has indicated to me that a man and a new city are like a foot and a new shoe, a little pin-chy and uncomfortable at first, but very much given to mutual adjustment.

I am not a confirmed predestina-rian, but I confidently believe there are now certain strong, active and healthy fish floating around in the waters near the Mouth of Grassy which are destined, at an early date, to yield up their mortal lives on the altar of Dock, Fluke, Moore etcetera.

BIRTH RATE DOUBLES DEATHS IN 8 YEARS

Vital Statistics For Ohio County
Show Considerable Variation
From Year to Year.

Vital statistics as compiled for Ohio County during the past eight years show considerable variation in births as well as deaths. Strange to say, when deaths run highest births seem to be most numerous.
Since the year 1913 the highest death rate, 461, was recorded in 1918 and during that year there were 550 births reported. The low year of deaths was 1916 when 297 deaths were reported as against 557 births.

The fees and expenses accounting against the County on account of compiling the statistics varies according to number of deaths and births. For 1916 the cost amounted to $430.75, while in 1918 it amounted to $632.25.

Following is the rate by years:

	Births	Deaths
1914	784	364

SUICIDE STATISTICS AID EDUCATION BILL

Save a Life League Sees Need of Better Schools By Self-Murder Facts Disclosed.

Washington, March 16.—Friends of the Towner-Sterling bill, now before Congress, which creates a Department of Education, point to the report of the Save a Life League, just made public, which shows suicides of more than 20,000 persons in 1921, as indicative of the failure of modern educational processes.

Education which does not fit those who obtain it for living, it is pointed out, is of no value either to the individual or to the state. That 10 editors, 10 well-known writers, 40 college students, 41 school teachers, 21 clergymen, 57 judges and lawyers, 7 mayors, 93 bankers and 88 presidents of large business concerns were numbered among the 1921 suicides is sufficient evidence that there is a field for national aid in education which conserves to the state the lives of valuable men by putting emphasis upon true rather than fictitious educational values.

Attention is also drawn to the recent move of the American Federation of Labor by which that organization proposes to help workingmen obtain the benefits of university training, as a further indication of the widespread demand for more and better educational facilities. Labor spokesmen have characterized the plan as the most far-reaching ever devised for increasing educational facilities to workingmen.

But it is not from labor, it is pointed out at the Capitol, but from educational sources that the greatest demand for government participation in education comes, and not from private gift, even when in such magnificent sums as the recent six million benefaction from the Rockefeller to Johns Hopkins, but from public interest, that the United States educational system will be brought to a really high state of efficiency—(Capital News Service.)

KINDERGARTEN FOR GROWN-UPS DISCUSSED

Washington, March 16.—Discussions in congressional cloakrooms are not always of matters of state. A Democratic senator was overheard speaking to his Republican colleague yesterday regarding the lack of knowledge of some supposedly educated men.

"Would it be a good plan to assemble Voliva, who thinks the earth is flat; Pedrosa of Brazil, who has just arrived in this country with instructions to give doctors by — they may bring the dead to life; and Bryan, who thinks we should decide by law what is and what is not a fact of natural history, in a kindergarten class in primary education?"

"I'd be afraid of the result," answered the Republican senator. "Mr. Pedrosa might want to experiment on the rest of the class."

ON A SLOW TRAIN

Every time the conductor of the mixed train passed through the coach the melancholy man inquired nervously: "Are we almost there, conductor?"

"I've told you repeatedly that we'll get there on time," snapped the conductor.

"Remember, my wife is dying," returned the melancholy man dolefully. Half an hour later the conductor passed through again.

"I guess she's dead now," said the melancholy man, seizing him by the coat tail, "but I'd be willing to pay extra fare if you would speed up a bit and catch up with the funeral. If they enshined her I might be in time."

The conductor silenced him with a stony stare.

The man remained quiet for a spell, calmly chewing a cut of tobacco and spitting at a cuspidor. Then the conductor passed through again.

"Conductor," said he, "there seems to be a stiff wind ahead. If you would get up a little more steam I would be glad to pay for the extra coal. I'd like to see my wife's grave before the tombstone crumbles with age."

"If you don't sit down and keep quiet, I'll make more work for the damage suit lawyers," returned the conductor.

The man sighed mournfully, and the conductor passed on.

The next time the conductor passed through the train the man said excitedly: "Conductor, I just now remember I have a note due in the bank in thirty days, and my credit will be ruined if you don't get me there in time to meet it."

"There'll be an inquest over your remains if you don't watch out," the conductor threatened.

Sadly, the melancholy individual fell back in his seat.

There was a lot of switching done at the next station, and when the conductor entered the coach again he endeavored to keep his temper under perfect control. He was surprised to see the melancholy man laughing and talking with a passenger who a few minutes before had entered the coach. A flask containing a suspicious-looking colorless liquid, which a Volstead chemist would have undoubtedly pronounced contraband, was in plain evidence.

"You don't feel so bad about your wife's death just now," said the conductor.

"Time heals all wounds," said the disconsolate one.

"And you're not so darned particular about the note?"

"Not now. I should worry. I've been figuring the thing out, and I find that the note has been outlawed by the statute of limitations since I saw you last."

The conductor collapsed, and the train dragged on.—L.C.M.

IRISH IMMIGRATION WANES.

Congressman Siegel, member of the committee on immigration, says: "The effect of the establishment of the Irish Free State is already noticeable. Irish immigration has fallen off to practically nothing." For years, though, it is expected that many Irish will be coming over to join relatives in this country. Sailings for Ireland have been comparatively few, according to the White Star line; the creation of the Irish Free State came so suddenly that Irish emigrants have hardly had time to get started. While it is reported that direct passenger service will be inaugurated between Ireland and this country small hope is entertained for cheaper passenger rates, owing to continued high cost of operating ships.

TREASURE ISLE IN PACIFIC

Prof. Homer R. Dill, of the University of Iowa, who will cruise the South Seas next year in search of museum material, received an offer from a newspaper correspondent in Maine to furnish charts of a certain island where treasure worth $60,000,000 was buried in 1850. This information is now in the possession of Mrs. James Brown, widow of a sea captain who said he helped transfer the treasure from Cocos island, where it was originally buried in 1820. Several companies organized in the past five years have failed to locate the treasure.

A New Angle On This One

When the ambitious young man entered the superintendent's office the office boy was seated in the swivel chair with his feet on top of the desk.

"Is the superintendent in?" inquired the young man.

"Nope; you'll have to wait. What do you want?" said the kid.

"Do you suppose there is an opening here for a college graduate?"

"Nope; not now, but there will be if they don't raise my wages."

That same kid was fired shortly after.

"Well," said the chief clerk to the superintendent, "we've seen the last of him."

"Don't be too sure," replied the superintendent. "He's liable to turn up here again as an efficiency expert."

GULF OF MEXICO IS HIGHER THAN ATLANTIC

Careful measurement made by the U. S. coast and geodetic survey shows that the level of the water in the Gulf of Mexico on the west coast of the peninsula of Florida averages nine-tenths of a foot higher than the level of the water in the Atlantic on the east coast. This difference of level which apparently results from the surplus water received through the Yucatan channel, driven into the Gulf by equatorial currents from the east, is believed to be responsible for the out-flowing current of the Gulf stream.

U. S. FINDS WAY TO HALT LIQUOR FRAUDS

"Forgeries and alterations of liquor withdrawal permits must be stopped!" says Prohibition Director Haynes.

And stopped they will be, for the Government has just adopted a means of protection that is expected to thoroughly choke off wholesale liquor frauds by permit-juggling.

The liquor permit swindler for many months has been as much of an annoyance to Federal Prohibition Enforcement Agents as check swindlers for years have been to banks and depositors.

Permits have been altered after leaving official hands to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars. The practice has been one of the most easily penetrated loopholes for the crafty bootlegger.

In a desperate effort to circumvent the clever bootlegging swindlers, Government officials recently conducted a lengthy investigation into the merits of scores of plans and contrivances to thwart license alteration.

At last the Prohibition Enforcement Service has found a solution of the problem that promises to block license forgeries. This is the employment of special permit-writing machines. Half a hundred of these have just been made for the use of issuers of liquor withdrawal permits.

These machines, while ingenious and thoroughly efficient, are small and simple in operation. They resemble a check protector made by the same manufacturer and employ the most modern protective principles of the safest possible check writer. The company making these devices for the Government has guaranteed not to manufacture any other machine of exactly the same type.

The words of the text stamped by the machines on the permits are diagonal. This permits writing more words on each line than any other machine can do, and prevents the insertion of interlinear words, which permit forgers. The most important feature of the machine, however, is that the amount of liquor to be withdrawn is perforated entirely thru the paper and also maceated, all in one operation. Alteration of permits is as impossible as alteration of checks written with the same machine.

"Fine—$25," said the judge.

"Prisoner at the bar," said the judge. "Will you have trial by judge or jury?"

"By jury, your honor," said the defendant. "I'll take no chance on you!"

"What!" roared the judge. "Do you mean to say that I would—"

A boy of eight entered the witness-box in tremendous boots, long trousers rolled up so that the baggy knees were at the ankles, and a swallow-tail coat that swept the floor.

"Why are you dressed like that?" asked the judge, both amazed and amused.

The boy took from his pocket the summons and pointed solemnly to the words: "To appear in his father's suit."

Miss Johnson's condition became so hysterical and she suffered such mental torture that it was impossible to administer anaesthetic. Thru the use of powerful sedatives, however, she was finally made to sleep, and the "psychic sneezing" disappeared upon her awakening.

BORAX KING WINS THROUGH COURAGE

In Bankruptcy At 65, He Takes Chance And Again Amasses Comfortable Fortune.

San Francisco, March 11.—His life slogan had been: "Don't weaken! What is age? Courage is the thing! Refuse to be beaten!"

So when at the age of 65, Francis M. ("Borax") Smith found that his $20,000,000 fortune was gone and that he was not only "broke" but in debt to the tune of several millions, he didn't contemplate suicide. Nor did he quit.

Today, at the age of 73 he is master of another fortune of several millions and, fighting with both fists to regain his lost title of "Borax King." And if he runs true to form he's likely to get it.

How He Started.

An accident, occurring when he was 28, caused "Borax" Smith to adopt his fighting philosophy. He had purchased a small timber claim in Nevada and taken a contract to supply with fuel a Nevada mine. One day he returned to find four Mexicans and an Indian, all armed, cutting down his wood. Smith had but four cartridges and a rifle. But, thought he, the intruders did not know that. Did he dare tackle five of them?

"Don't weaken!" said his courage. He fired two shots. The trespassers fled.

It was from this timber claim that he first saw upon the adjacent desert the broad white streaks that later were to make his first fortune. His borax discovery meant little if "you weakened." There was but little demand for it and the price was high. About 600 tons a year was used, he recalls.

News of his discovery caused a terrific slump in value. His associates quit.

Smith Sticks.

"Don't weaken!" said his courage. Smith stuck. He accumulated a fortune of some $25,000,000 but only after he had lone-handedly packed borax out of the desert and created a big market for it.

Then, with a large income to invest, Smith became interested in a fast ferry system between San Francisco and Oakland which, it is held, practically made the city of Oakland. Huge expenditures were involved and the railroad competition came. At the age of 65 he had developed cities, but lost his fortune and plunged into debt.

"Don't weaken!" said his courage. He saw borax holdings sold to pay loans. But also he recalls that many years back he had been one of a company interested in a silver claim that, to all appearances, would not produce. Smith had thought differently and put in $160,000, taking stock in payment. This he had turned over to his wife just before the crash came. And now, in his extremity, the mine was coming to his rescue.

Stakes All—Wins.

He at once went after borax deposits in the Searles Lake region, secured leases after a hard fight in Washington and made the mine pay for his initial equipment. If he failed the mine was lost—and there was some reason to believe that it might. Just then came word that three prospectors had found a borax mine in Nevada, near the Grand Canyon. He rode eighty miles on horseback into the desert to get there. He didn't have time to appraise the property, for competitors were in the field. He had to act at once and only upon his judgment.

"Don't weaken!" said his courage. He closed the deal for a quarter of a million. And he was 73. If he judged wrong his last card was gone. He took the mine while astonished rivals looked on.

Today his firm announces that there is $24,000,000 worth of borax in sight there.

So he has no cause to regret his slogan: "Courage is the thing! What is age? Don't weaken!"

PRISON-BORN BABY TO BE FIRED BY LAW

Albany, N. Y., March 11.—A baby girl, born in Auburn prison today was brought several steps nearer her freedom by the passage in the Senate of Senator Fearon's bill, which especially applies to her case.

The baby is Gloria O'Dell, whose father and mother two years ago were convicted of murder. The father was electrocuted in Sing Sing prison and the mother sentenced to twenty years in Auburn.

Baby Gloria was born shortly after her mother's arrival at the prison. Near-relatives in Rochester, where her parents lived, sought to take the baby and care for her.

A special law was required, however and Senator Fearon drafted it. It is almost certain that the bill will be released from the Rules Committee, and passed by the assembly.

A stroke of the Governor's pen will then release little Gloria from her prison walls.

Why Colds Are Dangerous.

You are often told to "beware of a cold," but why? We will tell you! Every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases. People who contract pneumonia first take cold. The longer a cold hangs on, the greater the danger, especially from the germ diseases, as a cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of consumption, diphtheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough. The quicker you get rid of your cold, the less the danger of contracting one of these diseases. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation as a cure for colds and can be depended upon. It is pleasant to take.

Has Had Stomach Trouble For Seven Years.

Theodore Sanford of Fenmore, Mich., has had stomach trouble for seven years and could not eat vegetables or fruit without pain in the stomach and restless nights. By taking Chamberlain's Tablets he is now able to eat vegetables or fruit without causing pain or sleeplessness. If troubled with indigestion or constipation give these tablets a trial. They are certain to prove beneficial.

GERMANY AMUSED BY DEMAND FROM AMERICA

Berlin, March 11.—The request of the United States for approximately a billion gold marks as reimbursement for the cost of maintaining its troops on the Rhine, has occasioned amusement here, where it is presumed in official quarters that the allies must pay the amount out of the reparations which already have been paid by Germany and, as one commentator expressed it, "largely spent by France."

The Tageblatt thinks this is another example of "discreet pressure" which America can bring to bear to show that the Genoa conference without her is simply useless. It declares it is another proof and a warning to the allies that America can play cat and mouse with them, making their position as difficult or as easy as she wishes.

The amount demanded, in the opinion of the Tageblatt, is immaterial, the important fact remaining that something was demanded which caused consternation among the allies.

Der Tag is of the belief the demand is an exhibition of the United States' displeasure over France's armament policy, and is intended to help in real reconstruction of Europe's economic condition.

"If the American demand really means this," it adds, "we warmly welcome it."

AGUINALDO ASKED TO VISIT SPANISH VETS

Los Angeles, March 11.—Remembering the magnanimous spirit displayed by Abraham Lincoln toward his enemies and those of his flag and how the war with Spain united the North and South, the executive committee of Spanish War Veterans, having in charge the arrangements for the twenty-fourth annual convention of United Spanish War Veterans, to be held here in August, today voted to extend a special invitation to Emilio Aguinaldo, leader of the Insurrectionists in the Philippine Islands, to be the convention's guest of honor. Recent cablegrams gave the committeemen the cue that Mr. Aguinaldo planned an extensive tour of the United States this summer.

Other guests of honor invited were Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of the Navy Denby, Secretary of the Interior Fall, who are members of Spanish War Veterans' camps; United States Senators Johnson and Shortridge, Governor Stephens and many state, county and city officials. Roosevelt Camp, of this city, will extend a special invitation to young "Teddy" Roosevelt to attend the convention as its own guest. Roosevelt Camp was named in honor of his illustrious father.

FRENCH PAPERS COMMENT.

Paris, March 11.—The American demand for the payment of $241,000,000 before any other German reparations are paid, was treated by the Paris afternoon newspapers as the morning editions, as a bill which the allies had not expected.

The semi-official Temps says that the United States is certainly entitled to reimbursement, but she should collect from Germany, inasmuch as she did not sign the treaty of Versailles, and made a separate treaty with Germany. The Temps remarks that the United States would have demanded payment in May, 1921 if she had believed the allies should pay.

Jacques Bainville, writing in La Liberte says the demand was made in response to American public opinion.

FIRST WOMAN SHERIFF SUCCEEDS SLAIN MATE

Mayfield, Ky., March 11.—Mrs. Lols Ranch, widow of Sheriff John T. Roach, slain recently in an argument, was named her husband's successor this morning by County Judge Monroe and was sworn into office at once.

She is Kentucky's first woman sheriff. She was appointed after a week's deliberation by Judge Monroe and bondsmen of her husband.

Mrs. Roach was born in Warren County in 1895 and met her husband at Bowling Green when they attended normal school there in 1913. She was married to Mr. Roach in 1917. Perry Roscoe Brown was named chief deputy to Mrs. Roach.

"The evening wore on," continued the man who was telling the story.

"Excuse me," interrupted the would-be wit. But can you tell us what the evening wore on that occasion?"

"I don't know that it is important," replied the story-teller. "But if you must know, I believe that it was the close of a summer day."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

All bodies were later buried in trenches instead of graves and Mrs. Seigrist's body was lost track of.

FORD'S RAILWAY ADVENTURE

Henry Ford's experiment in operating the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad is being closely watched by the railway men, who are careful to keep us informed as to developments. Mr. Ford has been increasing wages and reducing rates on his railroad and he has been telling the world how he would run the railroads of the country if they were his. His ideas about running railroads are in more or less violent conflict with those of the railway managers, and it is hardly possible for them to discuss him, his ideas or his railroad with patience. It is not The Journal's purpose, however, to comment on Mr. Ford's notions about railway management or on what his critics say about them. It wishes merely to present some figures showing what Mr. Ford is doing with the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton.

The net operating income of the road in March 1921, when the Ford management took charge, was $77,985. For the month of April it was $276,452, a sudden gain of nearly $200,000. Since April the net operating income has shown a decline each month, according to the statistics of earnings and expenses filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, although its total earnings have steadily increased. For the month of August the net operating income was $70,643; for September, 46,749; for October, $15,191. The gross earnings for October were $213,000 greater than for March.

What is the explanation of the steady shrinkage in the net operating income, while at the same time the gross earnings have so steadily increased? Railway men would answer doubtless, that the figures prove that Mr. Ford is not the wizard in railway management that he assumes to be. It is a fact well established that the sudden large increase in the net operating income in April, the first month under the Ford management, was due to the diversion by Mr. Ford, of all his business to his own railroad. It is clear how this business could be greater in volume at the outset than in the succeeding months. It is to be kept in mind, also, that on July 1 Mr. Ford instituted both advances in wages and reductions in local rates. This would account for a part, at least, of the shrinkage in the net operating income.

The Journal is not presenting any defense of the Ford management of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton. It is presenting only such facts as are available at this distance. Mr. Ford's theories of railway management will be tested by the monthly balance sheet that he submits to the Interstate Commerce Commission. If he has the right ideas, that will be revealed in the figures on earnings, expenditures and income. If his theories are impractical, that will be shown in red ink. The Journal is not so prejudiced against Mr. Ford that it would be unwilling to utilize his plan of railway management, if it could be proved by experience that it is a better plan than that now in practice. It is up to Mr. Ford to make good.—Sioux City (Iowa) Journal, December 24.

MEXICO LEADS U. S. IN PRODUCTION OF SILVER

Mexico City, March 11.—Mexico produced 38.6 per cent of the total world production of silver in 1921 and the United States in the same period produced only 31 per cent of the world total of 161,000,000 ounces says the American Chamber of Commerce of Mexico.

The year 1921 was classed as a bad year in silver mining, due to the low market price of the metal but despite this condition more than 62,000,000 ounces were taken from the Mexican mines.

Due to the revival of mining activity in Mexico during the closing months of 1921 and the reopening of mines in all parts of the country, the Chamber expects that the Mexican production of 1922 will greatly exceed that of last year.

"After the birth of my baby I had a back-set," writes Mrs. Mattie Crosswhite, of Glade Spring, Va. "I was very ill; thought I was going to die. I was so weak I couldn't raise my head to get a drink of water. I took . . . medicine, yet I didn't get any better. I was constipated and very weak, getting worse and worse. I sent for Cardui."
